TRUSTEES' REPORT

The sixty-second annual report of the Trustees of the Peabody Institute for the year ending January 31st, 1914, is respectfully submitted.

The reports of the Lyceum and Library Committees and its various sub-committees are also given in detail and should be of especial interest to all citizens. The Treasurer's report given in detail shows the great responsibility this office carries and his books show the great care and attention he has given to the work.

The Trustees have had an appraisal made of the Institute Building and contents with the exception of the books. This work was done by the American Appraisal Co. of Milwaukee, Wis., recognized as one of the best concerns in the country in that line. This appraisal gives positive values to work upon and resulted in placing more insurance and having but two forms, one form covering the building and the other form covering the contents, instead of nine different forms as heretofore.

The Trustees express their profoundest sorrow at the loss of Mr. Thomas Carroll and extend the sympathy of the Board to his family. Mr. Carroll has been connected with the Peabody Institute for the last 60 years beginning as a page boy in 1854, serving later as Trustee, and has been on the Lyceum and Library Committee for many years. The beauty of his character and his intense interest in the work will be remembered by us all.

FRANK H. SANGER, President,

NEW YORK

The history of the city of New York, from its first settlement by the Dutch in 1624, to the present time, is a subject of great interest and importance. It is a city of great size and population, and its history is full of interesting events and incidents. The city was first settled by the Dutch in 1624, and was then called New Amsterdam. It was later taken over by the English in 1664, and was then called New York. The city has since been a great center of commerce and industry, and its history is full of interesting events and incidents. The city was first settled by the Dutch in 1624, and was then called New Amsterdam. It was later taken over by the English in 1664, and was then called New York. The city has since been a great center of commerce and industry, and its history is full of interesting events and incidents.

TREASURER'S REPORT

To the Trustees of the Peabody Institute:

Gentlemen:—Attached herewith you will find my report for the year ending January 31, 1914.

Our securities are paying interest and are in good condition, excepting the following, which companies are now in receivers' hands.

$5,000 28th and 29th Streets Crosstown 5 per cent. Bonds have not paid interest since April, 1908.

$2,000 Buffalo and Susquehanna R. R. 1st Mtg. 4 per cent. Bonds have not paid interest since January, 1910. On Nov. 29, 1913, we deposited these Bonds with the Bond Holders' Committee, who sold the road under foreclosure for $5,000,000. The Bond Holders' Committee are re-organizing the corporation on the following basis:

Each $1,000 4 % Bond will be exchanged for $700.00 in new 4% Bonds, $300.00 in preferred stock, $150.00 in common stock and $20.00 in cash.

You will observe that the market value of securities in comparison with cost in many cases, has depreciated, which is due to prevailing market conditions.

The Finance Committee in November obtained a reduction on Insurance Premiums on the Institute Contents from $2.75 to $2.25.

The Appraisal which was made of the property during the year will place the Institute on a strictly business basis from an Insurance stand point.

JOHN J. GALLAGHER,

Treasurer.

Chairman, Lyceum and Library Committee.

Resolutions Adopted by the Lyceum and Library Committee on the Death of Thomas Carroll

WHEREAS the Lyceum and Library Committee has learned with sorrow of the decease of Mr. Thomas Carroll, its late friend and associate, and this Committee recognizes that it has met with an irreparable loss, and his fellow members of the Committee are deprived of an illustrious example of untiring zeal and unselfish devotion to the interests of the Peabody Institute and Library; Be it therefore

RESOLVED,—that the Lyceum and Library Committee has lost a congenial co-worker, and that in his long and continuous service of about sixty years upon this and other Boards connected with the Peabody Institute and Library, the Institute and Library have lost a faithful servant and a devoted lover; and be it further

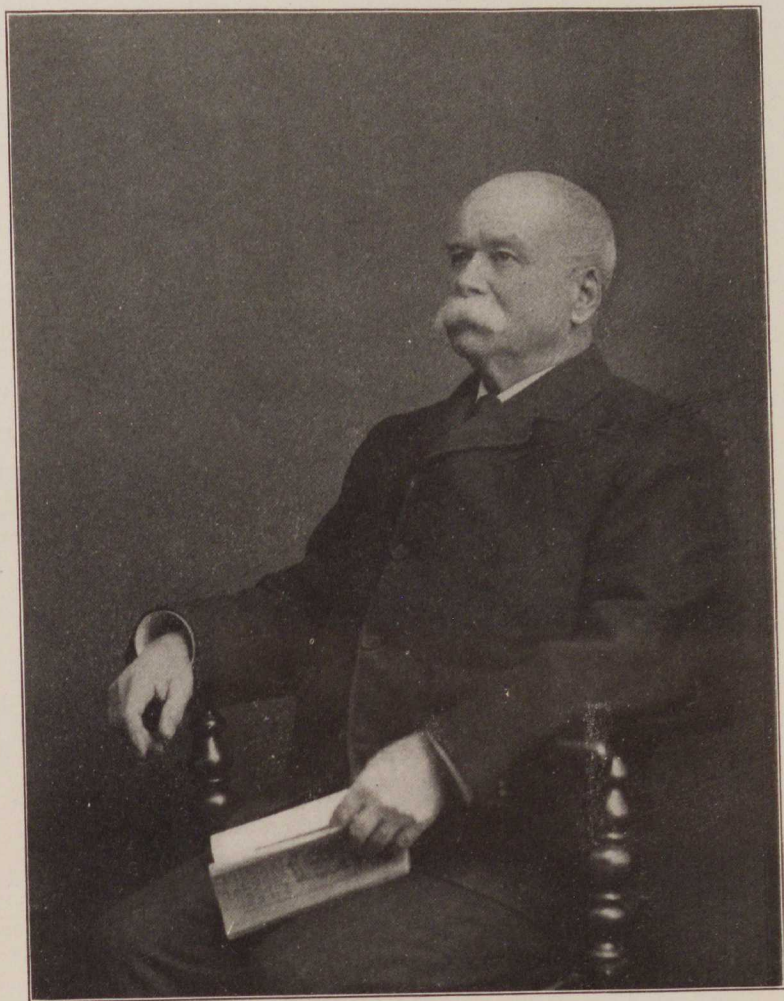

RESOLVED,—that this Committee expresses its sorrow, its sense of loss, and its appreciation of his high character, his noble example and his unselfish love and enthusiasm for the interests of the Peabody Library; and be it further

RESOLVED,—that this Committee extend to the bereaved family of the deceased its most heartfelt sympathy and condolences in their bereavement over the loss of an affectionate husband, a loving father and a delightful companion; and be it further

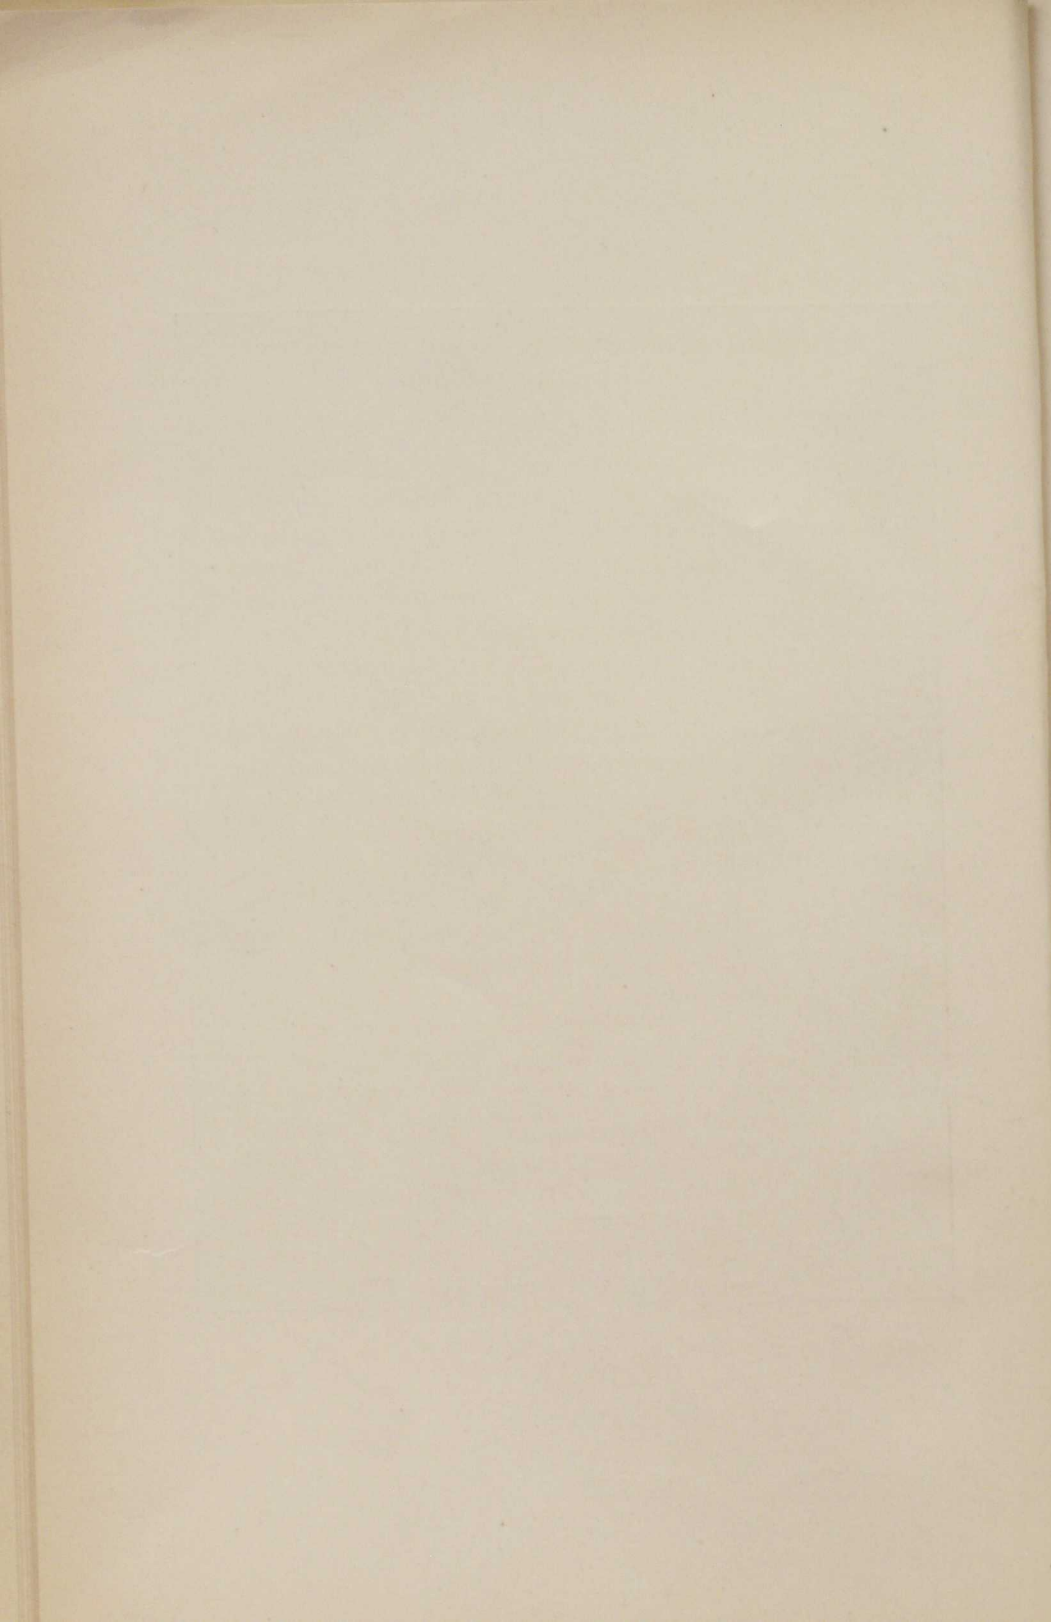

RESOLVED,—that these proceedings be spread upon the Records of this Committee, and that a copy of them be forwarded to the family of the deceased.

For the Committee,

ARTHUR W. SIM,
JOHN W. HUDSON,
P. H. O'CONOR.

The Report of the Peabody Library Committee
To the Trustees of the Peabody Institute:—

The Report of the Peabody Library Committee is respectfully submitted:—

By the passing of our dearly beloved Honorary Chairman who has written such delightful reports for the committee for so many years it falls to my lot to state as best I can the doings of the committee for the past year and the hope and plans for the future.

Our meetings have been held as usual, once a month, with the exception of July and August when no meetings were held. Our duty has been the regular routine of selecting books for the Library each month. No particularly great books in fiction have appeared but it is only one in a decade or so that endures and becomes a classic. Among the titles of the more notable books added to the Library are—Fiction, Burnett's "T Tembarom," Churchill's "Inside of the Cup," Fox's "Heart of the hills," Harrison's "V. V.'s eyes," Mrs. Humphrey Ward's "Coryston family," and "Mating of Lydia."

Description and travel, Collier's "Germany and the Germans from an American point of view," Jenkins' "Old Boston post road," Kephart's "Our Southern Highlanders," Schauffler's "Romantic America," Townsend's "Sand dunes and salt marshes" (of Ipswich, Mass.), Underwood's "Alaska, an empire in the making."

History, Crawford's "The sailor whom England feared: Paul Jones," Dawson's "Confederate girl's diary," "Photographic history of the Civil War" (in 10 vols., the Brady war photographs taken on the spot), Rhoades' "Lectures on the Civil War," Van Loon's "Fall of the Dutch Republic."

Biography, Agassiz's "Letters and recollections," Barr's "All the days of my life," Admiral Dewey's "Autobiography," Bolton's "Elizabeth Whitman mystery at the old Bell Tavern in Danvers," Henry Cabot Lodge's "Early memories," Charles Eliot Norton's "Letters," Muir's "Story of my boyhood and youth," Harrison Gray Otis' "Life and letters."

Leather manufacture and allied subjects, Dooley's "Manual of shoemaking and leather and rubber products," Hyde's "Solvents, oils, gums, waxes and allied substances," Jones' "The Sheep and its skin," Proctor's "Leather chemists' pocket-book," "Shoe and leather lexicon," Wood's "Puering, drenching and bating of skins."

You will note by the Librarian's report a falling off in the circulation of fiction and he gives some reasons which may account for it. It is easy to see that a public library cannot furnish a sufficient supply of the latest popular fiction for general readers for with one or two or three copies for circulation, the work is old before many people have had a chance to read it.

We should not aim to supply all kinds of fiction for many books circulate once or twice and become a fixture on the shelves for eternity and a continual expense for storage. The policy pursued by many libraries such as ours and one to which we have tended in later years and towards which we should lean further is to buy several copies of the good standard works of fiction and let the people have them while they are new and by the time the demand is gone the copies can be reduced to one and a great saving for storage effected. The enduring titles of fiction of the last ten years can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The circulation of other classes of books has increased slightly particularly of vocational books of which we have a very good collection for the line of business pursued in our town.

The Librarian also calls attention to the increased circulation of books among our population of foreign birth and recommends the purchase of more books in foreign languages. The books we have are in Greek and a purchase of more Greek books and some Yiddish and Russian books is thought desirable.

Surely there is no better way to make American citizens than through the library. Peabody's population has changed since the middle of the last century when the Institute was founded and we must meet the changed conditions and do our part towards making future citizens.

The Librarian, Janitor and attendants have worked for the best interests of the institution and merit our thanks.

For the Committee,

FRED W. BUSHBY, Chairman.

Report of Reading Room Committee

To the Lyceum and Library Committee:

The Reading Room Committee herewith respectfully submits its annual report for the year ending January 31, 1914.

The following changes have been made in the papers and periodicals taken; Pearson's Magazine, the New England Magazine and the Massachusetts Magazine, the two latter having ceased publication, have been discontinued and the Boy's Life, Christian Science Monitor, Christian Science Journal, and Christian Science Sentinel have been added, the last three being the gift of Mr. Elmer E. Chain.

Owing to the fact of the opening of rooms for the Boys' Fraternity, the evening attendance has somewhat decreased.

It is still hoped that the Trustees will be able during the coming year to find some means whereby the separate reading room for children can be satisfactorily located and work begun to establish such a room.

For the Committee,

FRANK TAYLOR, Chairman.

Report of the Lyceum Committee

Our Course for this year is not yet completed, as there is still one more lecture to be given by Mr. Powell, on Old Essex, February 12th.

The Lectures this year have been given as follows:

Columbus, by T. H. Cummings.

Concert by University Quartet.

Mexico, by Peter McQueen.

The Columbus Lecture was given in the afternoon in the Town Hall. The place was completely filled with children, about fourteen hundred being present. Owing to an accident, the evening lecture was postponed and was later presented in the Institute, to a good sized audience.

The University Quartet gave a splendid Concert. Your chairman was of the belief, that this being a new departure, and more of an entertainment, that but little advertising would be necessary to completely fill the Institute. But he was mistaken, and we have found advertising to be absolutely necessary, no matter how great the attraction.

The McQueen Lecture proved very interesting to a large audience.

As our expenditures are not complete, no accurate estimate can be given, except to say that we will keep within the appropriation.

We have so far expended;

$75	Cummings Lecture
35	University Quartet
30	Peter McQueen
15	Music
2	Teaming

$157.00            Total

Respectfully submitted,

FRED N. MOORE, Chairman.

Report of the Eben Dale Sutton Reference Library for The Year Ending Janary 31, 1914

According to the report of the Librarian, the number of consultations does not vary much from the preceding year. And while the record of each year's work may not seem an adequate patronage for a library of this size and importance, the aggregate work of the forty-five years of its history would show that it is a valuable and useful institution, and that the people of Peabody and vicinity are fortunate in its possession.

The Committee are always ready to purchase any publications, that, in their judgment, will benefit the patrons of the Library. The latest editions of the most important encyclopedias will be found on the shelves, and all supplementary volumes, or additions to these works are purchased as promptly as they are published.

The Nelson Encyclopedia, which is bound in the loose-leaf system, provides at regular intervals, or whenever necessary, new articles, on such subjects as may have been affected by discovery or invention, or which, through the march of progress, have made the original articles obsolete.

It will be necessary during the coming year to provide additional shelf room. In the original plan of the Library, it was evidently intended to confine the space for books to three sides of the room, but it seems now that shelf room for future accessions will have to be located on the remaining side.

The balcony shelves, in which there is still some unoccupied space have helped somewhat to relieve the congestion on the first floor, but this place is not easily accessible, and is only suitable for books that are rarely consulted.

It is intended to rearrange and improve the present system of lighting the Library, and investigations are being made to determine the best system to adopt.

Lockwood' Colonial Furniture in America, Old Sheffield Plate, The Library of Literary Criticism, Old English China, Harper's Encyclopedia of United States History, and other works of merit have been added during the year. Some additions have also been made to our collection of Histories of Massachusetts Towns.

The duties devolving on the Librarian have been performed in a faithful, courteous and efficient manner.

We wish to acknowledge our indebtedness to Mr. Osborn, of the Peabody Library, for valuable assistance during the year.

For the Committee,

P. H. O'CONOR, Chairman.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT

---

The report of the Librarian for the year ending January 31, 1914 is respectfully submitted.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the year has been the increased use of the library by our people of foreign birth.

Of the new borrowers' cards issued during the year over twenty-five per cent. were to applicants so classified, the term for library purposes being understood to refer to people whose native tongue was other than English. A large proportion of the above twenty-five per cent. were taken by Greeks, due to the fact that we have during the year added quite extensively to our collection in that language, and with the aid of a young Greek friend of the library have placed lists of the collection in the various Greek halls and coffee-houses.

These people are very orderly and quiet, take excellent care of the books, and are very appreciative of any service rendered them.

During the coming year this collection of Greek books should be again added to, and a beginning made on collections of books in Yiddish, and Russian, as quite a call is developing for books in those languages.

The Free Public Library Commission of Massachusetts is alive to the needs of the foreigner "in our midst", and has recently appointed an Agent especially to work with and among them. From this source we have already procured good lists of Yiddish and Russian books, and shall be able to obtain valuable aid and counsel in the future.

That the library is being drawn upon less and less for Fiction has been evident for several years past, and this class again shows a loss for the year, due at least in part to the activities of the pay circulating libraries, which are able to buy a learge number of copies of popular books, and also to supply a call for certain classes of books which the library declines to buy at all.

During the past few months, also, the use of books for Juveniles has fallen off, accounted for by the opening of the new Boys' Fraternity at the Wallis School, which has largely drawn away from us the boys who formerly came here in the early evening.

In view of these last named facts a liberal policy in the future in the purchase of books in other language than English would seem to be abundantly justified.

Work upon the recataloging of the older portion of the library goes on constantly as time from other duties permits, and during the past year 714 volumes, represented by 1430 cards, have been recataloged, this work having been exclusively done with the aid of the printed catalog cards supplied by the Library of Congress.

The Library Art Club has this year supplied us with an almost continuous exhibit of pictures of varied subjects as will appear from the following list

Foods from Southern climes,	Feb. 17-Mar. 10.
Decorative art of Rome,	March 10-31

A collection of twenty views of the Salem Pageant of last summer has just been purchased, and is now on exhibition, and is to be permanently preserved in portfolio, as the scenes delineated by our townspeople are especially well illustrated.

The closing days of the library year are saddened by the death of Mr. Carroll, for so many years the valued friend and associate alike of Trustees, members of Committees and librarians. With his passing on is severed the last link binding the present to the very beginnings of the institution sixty years ago, for his services began as one of the boy pages at its opening in 1854, and has continued almost unbroken to the present day.

A record "full of years and honors" has indeed been his.

Acknowledgment is due to our janitor, Mr. McKeen, for his hearty co-operation at all times and in every way, and to the assistants, whose duties have been satisfactorily performed.

Statistics in the usual form are appended and made a part of this report.

LYMAN P. OSBORN, Librarian.
